

 element, wherein said drain opening is sealed with a plate spring made of spring steel, which is fixed at one end and the free end of which seals the drain opening, wherein the plate spring can be actuated by a shoulder or a bead of the supporting body for the filter element.

---